Remains ID'd as missing Calgary man

INVESTIGATION The human remains found near the base of Sulphur Mountain in Banff have been identified.

The Calgary medical examiner's office confirmed the identification of the remains Thursday as Brendan Craig Davis, 24, of Calgary, who was reported missing to the Calgary Police Service on June 20.

On July 29, hikers found what appeared to be skeletal remains near a pathway on Sulphur Mountain. Later searches found bones scattered over a wide area, and animal involvement is possible, said RCMP Sgt. Patrick Webb.

The cause of death is still under investigation by the medical examiner's office.

Indecent acts spur warning from police

AMY GREGSON

CRIME Calgary police are appealing for help after a string of indecent acts at a concealed northwest school park and surrounding area.

Staff Sgt. Greg Johnston said these incidents of exposure are not normal and it was appropriate to give the public warning. "School is back on Aug. 27, so we would like to make sure that we are dealing with this situation in an expeditious manner," said Johnston.

Two incidents occurred on Aug. 10 and 17 at the playground at Captain John Palliser School in the 1400 block of Northmount Drive NW. While investigating, police were made aware of another incident that occurred on June 24 in the same area.

Johnston believes the incidents are related because of the description of the offender: A white male, 35 to 45 years old, five feet, seven inches to five feet, 11 inches tall, heavy set, clean shaven, balding, with tanned skin and a pot belly, who was riding a blue or black bike.

Johnston said the victims weren't spoken to or harmed.

Two more incidents are also being investigated.

Anyone with information is asked to contact District 3 at (403) 567-6300.

A Canadian man has been charged with the murder of his model ex-wife in Los Angeles, and police say he may have snuck into B.C. to evade U.S. authorities.

Former reality TV contestant and Calgary native Ryan Jenkins, 32, was charged after 28-year-old Jasmine Fiore was found stuffed into a suitcase in a dumpster.

Jenkins had initially been considered a person of interest after reporting Fiore missing on Saturday and then disappearing when her body was found. On Thursday afternoon, the Orange County district attorney charged him with murder. Earlier in the day, the sheriff's office in Bellingham, Wash., said Jenkins' BMW and an empty boat trailer were found at a marina in the state.

A man matching the suspect's description was also reportedly seen arriving by boat at Point Roberts, Wash., where he may have walked across the border into Tsawwassen, B.C.

"It is not confirmed that he has in fact entered Canada, but if he has it was not through legitimate means," said Delta police Const. Sharlene Brooks, adding the RCMP have assumed control of the investigation.

Jenkins, a wealthy real estate agent from Calgary, was a contestant on the VH1 reality TV show Megan Wants a Millionaire.

He and Fiore were married in March, several days after meeting in Las Vegas. Their marriage was annulled a few months later.

Jenkins has twice faced charges stemming from alleged violence against women.

U of C yoga program for cancer patients thriving

Research-based system expanding through city, countrywide

AMY GREGSON

Breast cancer took a great toll on Gale McCombie's body to the point where she had very little mobility and felt like she had arthritis throughout her entire body.

To help in the healing process, McCombie signed up for yoga thrive, a research project through the University of Calgary specifically designed for cancer patients, survivors and their support partners.

Instructors were trained to understand the effect of cancer on the body, so they are able to assist patients and survivors with side effects and healing on an individual basis.

"The instructor helped me with what I needed to do in order to feel part of (yoga), better myself and she inspired me," said McCombie.

Now the research program has expanded and come September, yoga thrive will be a full-fledged program with 14 locations in Calgary and numerous locations across Alberta and Canada, something that thrills McCombie, who's leery of heading to a traditional yoga setting.

"I'm still not ready to go into the regular (yoga) system yet. I just don't feel comfortable," said McCombie.

Nicole Culos-Reed, lead researcher, said she found the program helps decrease fatigue, stress, and depression and improves participants' quality of life.

Culos-Reed said the growth of the program is a way for participants to maintain their physical activity.

"We are trying to build yoga as a sustainable commu-

$3.1M going to 3 city crime prevention groups

Three crime prevention programs in Calgary will be getting financial support from the federal government as $3.1 million of funding was announced Thursday.

Federal Minister of Public Safety Peter Van Loan said the money will help youth divert from criminal activity and make better choices.

"This is an important component of our plan to combat crime and make our communities and streets safe for everyone," said Van Loan.

The Calgary Police Service's Youth at Risk Development Program will receive $1 million over four years to continue working with youth who are at risk of joining a gang or already involved in gangs.

The Calgary Mennonite Centre for Newcomers Society will receive $1.2 million to implement the Effective Community Response to Immigrant Youth Gang Crime Project.

The Calgary Family Services' Spirit — Girls Identifying Real Life Solutions, which shows girls aged 12 to 15 the benefits of long-term positive relationships, coping strategies and life skills will receive $900,000.

"Many youth have difficulty seeing different options and alternatives for their futures," said CPS Deputy Chief Al Redford. "They need to have resources at their disposal."

Albertan-born journalist marks year in captivity

SOMALIA One year after she was snatched on a Somali roadside at gunpoint, Alberta-born journalist Amanda Lindhout remains held by her captors.

"There are a lot of unanswered questions — it's not the conventional kidnap and ransom case whatsoever," said Calgary-based anti-terrorism expert Daniel Clayton.

Clayton met Lindhout two years ago in Afghanistan. The tall, attractive, white woman represented the ideal target for kidnappers, he said. "I remember telling someone 'she better be careful,'" Clayton said.

Conflicting reports on her condition have surfaced, and the ransom has been raised and lowered significantly. Sources in Somalia tell Clayton the 28-year-old woman now could be released for as little as $250,000.

Canadian Foreign Affairs has previously denied comment to Metro on what efforts, if any, are in place to secure her release.

Office owner finds decades-old mail

As the new owner of an old post office, Stirling, Ont., resident Rosanna Clark found herself helping to deliver 68-year-old mail. She found nine pieces of undelivered mail earlier this summer while renovating her new office, including a letter dating back to 1941. The letters have since been sent to Canada Post's undeliverable mail office in Toronto. Workers there will open the sealed envelopes and continue the search for new addresses for the recipients.

From no call to no tell

CRTC won't disclose identities of list violators

The CRTC is to hold secret talks next week to determine whether three unidentified telemarketers knowingly violated the national do-not-call list, the Toronto Star has learned.

The agency has gone to extraordinary lengths to ensure you don't know who the telemarketers are and what they did. They won't even let you know when exactly the three CRTC commissioners handling the matter are going to talk to each other by phone.

The Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission took the step of striking the panel after the telemarketers refused to pay undisclosed fines.

A CRTC spokesperson

Fines

- Companies violating the do-not-call list can be fined up to $15,000 per call, and individuals can be fined up to $1,500.

said if the three commissioners, Timothy Denton, Louise Poirier and Michel Arpin, determine the telemarketers have violated the almost year-old rules, only then will their names be published along with the fine on the CRTC website.

The no-call list law was introduced in September 2008 to protect consumers from being bothered by telemarketers.

Some seven million telephone numbers have been registered on the do-not-call list.

Queen's University law Prof. Art Cockfield said yesterday the CRTC should be shaming telemarketers, not going to great lengths to protect their identity.

Besides refusing to name telemarketers, the CRTC went as far as tell the Toronto Star "there are no documents" relating to offending telemarketers, even though it has issued a total of seven telemarketers with violation notices and confirmed that hundreds of others were under investigation.

"Disclosing the identity of the telemarketing company would act as a significant deterrent, the so-called shaming factor," said Cockfield.

A tree was uprooted in York Region, north of Toronto, by a powerful storm on Thursday evening. At least four tornadoes reportedly touched down in the region, killing one.

Tornadoes kill one in Ontario

WEATHER Close to 69,000 Ontario residents were left without power after a series of destructive thunderstorms and several tornadoes ripped through southwestern Ontario last night.

Over half of these residents are in the area of Owen Sound and Walkerton, which is just north of Durham, Ont., where a tornado was spotted.

The OPP have confirmed

there is at least one fatality after strong winds and storms blasted through the town of Durham, 50 kilometres south of Owen Sound, this afternoon. Residents said a shed collapsed in a conservation park in the north end of town, killing a person inside.

Another 6,000 people in cottage country near Georgian Bay and in Muskoka were left in the dark, said

Hydro One representative Daniele Gauvin. The numbers do not include homes and businesses in the York region, which was battered by high winds.

In Toronto, subway service was suspended between Wilson and Downsview stations after outages. There were also multiple pockets of power outages throughout the city and downtown.

PM vows better times for Arctic

NUNAVUT As Canada asserts sovereignty claims in the Arctic, it must also do a better job of ensuring the region's residents share in its resources, Prime Minister Stephen Harper said Thursday.

Harper made his comments in the coastal hamlet of Pangnirtung on Baffin Island in Nunavut, as he continued his tour of Canada's Far North.

Many residents of the Arctic say they have too often been left behind in the rush to exploit the natural resources beneath their feet.

Harper outlined Ottawa's plan to spend $17 million to improve the local harbour for fishermen.

The lack of a good dock forces fishermen to wait until high tide to unload their catches, a process that can force them to remain on the water in small boats in bad weather.

IGALUIT The power went out across Iqaluit for about two hours on Wednesday, just after Prime Minister Stephen Harper and other top politicians had left the small community on Baffin Island to tour a military training exercise in the area. Workers at Iqaluit's aging main diesel-powered generating station took the facility off line after discovering a problem in one of its systems, a move the utility said was prompted by safety concerns.

Millions risk death to vote

Taliban fail to deter Afghans

Millions of Afghans went to the polls Thursday, defying Taliban threats of violence and sporadic attacks to choose a president.

"The Afghan people dared rockets, bombs and intimidation and came out to vote," President Hamid Karzai told a news conference after polls closed.

"We'll see what the turnout was. But they came out to vote. That's great, that's great."

Preliminary results are not due for two weeks, although polling stations could begin to report soon.

The Afghan government said nine civilians and 14 members of the security forces were killed in 135 incidents countrywide.

"The Afghan people dared rockets, bombs and intimidation and came out to vote."

But the Taliban failed to mount a single spectacular strike that could threaten the poll itself.

U.S. envoy Richard Holbrooke said: "So far every prediction of disaster turned out to be wrong."

Polls showed Karzai is likely to win but not by enough to avoid a run-off against his main challenger, his former foreign minister Abdullah Abdullah, who ran a surprisingly energetic campaign. REUTERS

Elect an Aboriginal unifying force

Bernd Christmas
Guest Columnist

When Aboriginal Canadians gather next month to elect a new leader of the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples, an organization founded to represent off-reserve Aboriginal Peoples, they will not just be answering the question of who leads the congress, but perhaps who actually represents Aboriginal Peoples in Canada.

During the CAP's 38-year history it has battled for that right with the better known — and richer — Assembly of First Nations (the AFN received $27 million in grants from the federal government alone in 2008, compared to $5.5 million for CAP), which says it represents all First Nations, though its leadership is elected only by First Nations band chiefs, whose governments receive $10 billion in funding from Indian Affairs — a source of tension for First Nations people living off reserve who can't access those funds or that level of support.

According to Department of Indian and Northern Affairs Canada population projections, in 2009, there are 482,600 on-reserve Status Indians and 350,000 off reserve, though Statistics Canada says only 40 percent of First Nations people live on reserves.

So at stake in these elections is this: Will a new CAP leader work with the newly elected AFN National Chief, Shawn Atleo, on behalf of all aboriginals, rather than against each other as their two predecessors did. How bad was it? The AFN's former national chief Phil Fontaine declared in 2007 about CAP: "It is deeply insulting when the government supports a puppet organization, of questionable representation, with a straw man for a leader, who slams First Nations leadership."

In 2008, CAP's former national chief Patrick Brazeau responded: "The AFN national chief said he represents all First Nations people. Well, I'm a First Nations person and I did not give him that right to represent me. As a matter of fact, he living off-reserve, means I represent him."

Let's add a few more national organizations into the mix: The Inuit Tapiriit Kanatami, the Metis Nation and the Native Women's Association.

Collectively, the five organizations represent all Indigenous Peoples. Sometimes they work together, but for the most part they don't.

Clearly all Indigenous Peoples are not one homogenous body, and are all very distinctive.

But surely no one can argue that collectively they are on the same page as a result of the poor treatment of Indigenous Peoples. All are fighting for recognition and implementation of rights, within the law.

The CAP election may be the first step for an organization to take the high road and elect a leader that is willing to go the extra mile. All Indigenous Peoples are looking for leaders that can bring them a better life. Education, health care, employment, justice, thriving economies and equality are issues that need attention. Will it ever be possible to form one political body to represent all?

Rick McIver wants to be clear. He won't be putting on his Birkenstocks, and bringing his own coffee cup to the Bow River Flow on Sunday. Actually, he won't be there at all. The city councillor who would be mayor is a critic of the event.

Actually, it's not the event, McIver says, but the Memorial Street closure that has Rick McIver rankled. Flow runs from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Area councillor Druh Farrell proposed the idea of the street closure to allow for cycling earlier this year.

You'd think she suggested killing all male boys under the age of two. Some of her own neighbours were outraged. The Kensington Business Redevelopment Zone people and community association recoiled.

Obviously, I'll never be an alderman or mayor — I thought the idea was great. I went to school and worked summers in Ottawa where the road is shut Sundays for cycling along the Rideau River. No car fumes. It was glorious. Why not us?

Here in Calgary, street-farians took up the cause (the not for profit Arusha) met with community members and managed to get many area businesses on side to celebrate the idea. The Bow River Flow ends with a free movie — the hockey dustup Slapshot at 4:45 pm, at The Plaza in Kensington.

There you'll find a road hockey tournament held on the tennis courts at the U of C Saturday at 11 a.m. Each of the 22 teams donate its $50 entry fee to charity. Also outside Saturday is QuickDraw Animation's street festival in the parking lot beside its 11 Ave SW offices. Called UrbanBurn2, the 7 p.m. family event features new work by young artists, a workshop on cameraless animation, and displays of animations by young artists. Calgarians like our street festivals. Learjet contract cancelled

Bombardier's deal with Jet Republic worth up to $1.5B

Bombardier Inc. said Thursday that it scrapped a large Learjet contract with Jet Republic after the upstart private aviation company declared insolvency, underlining the ongoing turbulence in the business jet market.

The contract for 25 Learjet 60 XR mid-sized jets accounted for $240 million US of Bombardier's backlog. If the options for 85 more jets had been exercised, it would have been worth up to $1.5 billion.

The jets were due to enter service over the course of the next two years, starting in October 2009.

The Montreal-based aerospace and transportation company's aerospace's backlog stood at $22.4 billion as of April 30.

"The order was among the largest single business jet orders Bombardier had ever recorded," Cameron Doerksen, an analyst at Versant Partners, said in a note to clients.

Bombardier spokeswoman Danielle Boudreau said in an interview that, for now, Learjet operations at the company's facility in Wichita, Kan., would continue as planned.

Barnes & Noble puts off forecasts as sales slide

BOOKS Barnes & Noble Inc.'s quarterly profit did not fall as much as expected, but its shares skidded as sales kept sliding and the retailer put off updating its annual forecast to around Oct. 1 as it prepares to buy Barnes & Noble College Booksellers.

Last week, Barnes & Noble announced plans to buy Barnes & Noble College Booksellers for $596 million, a move that would expand its store base and provide entry into the digital textbook arena.

Traditional booksellers like Barnes & Noble are facing increased pressure from online retailers, especially from web giant Amazon.com Inc. At the same time, consumers have cut back on discretionary purchases, including books.

Barnes & Noble expects to offer more than one million titles by the end of the year at its online store for digital books.

With more books sold online, and with new technology such as electronic book readers slowly gaining momentum, booksellers are scrambling to gain entry in the digital market.

In brief

TRADE Canadian wholesale trade rose for the first time in nine months in June, up 0.6 per cent from May on higher sales of automotive products as well as food, drink and tobacco, Statistics Canada said Thursday.

Sales in the automotive products sector increased by 3.3 per cent from May, but were still 24.6 per cent below levels in June 2008. The food, beverages and tobacco products sector rose 1.8 per cent from May, mainly on higher sales of food.

FOOD Packaged food makers H.J. Heinz Co. and Hormel Foods Corp. both posted better-than-expected quarterly profits as consumers eat more at home to save money, lifting sales of products like ketchup and Spam. Heinz said Thursday that it benefited from strength in emerging markets and price increases. Hormel saw profits boosted by lower costs for livestock feed in its Jennie-O turkey business.

Take Sushma and Baskar Rao. The software engineer and her chartered accountant husband landed in Canada on January 16 this year, and the very next day they applied for SIN cards and credit cards. Having activated their Canadian banking account while still in Bangalore (India), they were also able to transfer their funds to Canada with great ease – something that was not possible before Scotiabank launched the Scotiabank StartRight™ program for newcomers to Canada.

Baskar was one of the first applicants in India to take advantage of the Scotiabank StartRight Program. “We had an account with Scotiabank in Canada within a week of applying in India, and within two or three weeks, we had remitted funds to Canada,” he says.

“The credit goes to my brother,” says Baskar, 34. “He told me to check out the Scotiabank StartRight Program for newcomers that Scotiabank offers through its branches and in partnership with HDFC Bank in India.”

Rania Llewellyn, Vice-President, Multicultural Banking at Scotiabank, says Canada receives approximately 250,000 new immigrants a year. She adds “While a very significant proportion of these are from South Asia, China and the Philippines, the Scotiabank StartRight Program addresses the needs of all new immigrants, wherever they come from.”

Establishing credit history in Canada is vital

Having worked in the US with KPMG for a year, Baskar says he knew it was important to get his credit history meter ticking as soon as possible. “With the Scotiabank StartRight Program, I was able to do so on day one.”

Sushma has also taken advantage of the small safety deposit box¹ offered free for a year as part of the Scotiabank StartRight Program. “Our focus group discussions show new immigrants place a high value on safety deposit boxes and getting a credit card,” says Pankaj Mehra, Director, India and South Asian Markets. Many immigrants with their inherent faith in precious metals would be happy to learn that Scotiabank is Canada’s gold bank.

“Through our subsidiary - ScotiaMocatta, we are one of the largest distributors of precious metals in the world - we cater to the very substantial gold and jewellery markets in India,” says Mehra. “In the Canadian context, what this means is that Scotiabank clients can invest in gold by getting coins and gold bars, and invest in other precious metals at our branches across Canada”

Getting settled – one step at a time

Baskar landed a job as an internal auditor, a month into the job hunt. “I’d been prepared to take whatever came my way as it is not good to sit idle, so it feels great to land a job in my field.” With the financial pressure off, Sushma was better able to concentrate on her own job hunt. She had met consultants, applied for positions, and eventually landed a job with Research in Motion.

When their immigration papers came through, Baskar says his father and brother advised him to move to Canada with his wife rather than coming alone first, finding a job and then getting her to join him. “Enjoy both the hardships and the happiness together,” they said.

Things which can be overwhelming for a new immigrant were handled with such ease thanks to the friendly and helpful people at Scotiabank. Honestly, I don’t see us facing any hardships,” says Baskar. “Scotiabank helped us skip a few steps by starting us off on the right note while we were still in India – I call it the Dummies’ Guide to Banking! The Scotiabank StartRight Program opened the doors for us to our new life.”

Feeling at home in Canada

The Raos enjoyed their first Canadian winter this year. “Shovelling was fun – I was an apprentice to my brother!” laughs Baskar who was living together with his brother then. Sushma thinks Spring is beautiful and is looking forward to enjoying the beauty of each season as it unfolds – though we feel this summer hasn’t been anything to talk about.

“We love Canada,” says Sushma.

“Bangalore is multicultural in the local sense, Canada is multicultural in the international context. We fit right in. We feel at home!”

Hiring people from within the community

Making new immigrants feel at home are Scotia® advisors like Jaswant Thind, who apply their own experiences as new immigrants in their interactions with the bank’s clients.

With several years of experience in sales and finance in Punjab, India, Thind landed a transition job the day after landing at Pearson International. “When I got my first cheque a week later, I didn’t have an account to deposit it in” he recalls. Today, a financial advisor at Scotiabank’s Queen Street branch in Brampton, Thind advises newcomers on issues vital to their settling in well in their new country.

“I see people who have been in Canada for three or four years and still don’t have a credit card. They come from cash societies where credit card use is still to catch on in a big way. I tell them to apply for a no-fee credit card² through the Scotiabank StartRight Program; and that without a credit history, they will find it next to impossible to get a mortgage, or a car loan.”

He says people often feel more comfortable discussing their finances in their own language and he is happy to speak to customers in Punjabi. “Coming from a similar background, I feel I understand their needs better.”

Aware of the value South Asians place on education, he also advises them to invest in RESPs to finance their children’s higher studies. Thind is active in the community and says people will often approach him at the gurudwara (Sikh temple of worship) or at malls and parks to ask for financial tips. “Coming from a similar background, I feel I understand their needs better,” says Thind.

“At Scotiabank, we realize the importance of building a workforce that truly reflects the communities we serve” says Rania Llewellyn. The Bank embraces diversity in all its facets, and its culture is based on community and teamwork. “We even participate in programs that provide career opportunities to new immigrants”, she adds.

Scotia advisors like Jaswant Thind can serve new immigrants in many different languages.

Golf's inclusion in Olympics just a cash grab

Field of Play

Scott Russell

metronews.ca/fieldofplay

I saw Alex Baumann, one of Canada's greatest Olympians, the other day in Dartmouth, N.S., at the World Sprint Canoe Championships. The legendary swimmer and I witnessed another Canadian Olympic icon, Adam van Koeverden, as he won a bronze medal in his kayak despite nursing a badly broken ankle.

"Can you believe golf's back in the Olympics?" I asked Baumann.

He shook his head in amazement and turned his attention to what was happening out on the surface of beautiful Lake Banook.

Although it's a great game, golf is not — repeat not — Olympic.

Sure it was, at one time,

"The IOC's return to the country club mentality is an attempt to capitalize on the star power of Tiger Woods and a few others."

played in Olympic competition and a Canadian named George Lyon won the gold medal in St. Louis back in 1904. But remember, there was also motor boat racing at the Olympics and polo and croquet, for goodness' sake. Like golf, these are not Olympic pursuits, but rather pastimes of the privileged few.

Golf's anticipated re-entry to the Olympic family in time for the 2016 Games reeks of another money grab. The IOC's return to the country club mentality is an attempt to capitalize on the star power of Tiger Woods and a few others. Meanwhile, women ski jumpers can't get a sniff of gender equality or place their sport in the Vancouver 2010 Olympics. It's hypocritical to say the least.

When will the people who currently run the Olympics understand that the Games are the pinnacle of athletic achievement? To be Olympic champion is an exalted state. For the likes of Woods it would merely be a feather in his Nike-festooned cap. For golfers it's the Masters or the British Open that matter most — not the Olympics.

One of the founders of the modern Games, Pierre de Coubertin, once uttered the following words: "All sports for all people," he declared. "In no way can sport be considered a luxury object."

It's doubtful he was talking about golf and the Olympics in the same breath.

Scott Russell is the host of CBC Sports Weekend seen Saturday afternoons. He has covered professional and amateur sports including nine Olympic games and numerous world championships.

Serena cruises into quarters

World No. 2 Serena Williams raced into the quarter-finals of the Rogers Cup on Thursday with a 6-1, 6-4 demolition of Ukrainian Alona Bondarenko.

Williams needed only 64 minutes on a blustery centre court to dispose of the world No. 33 and restore a bit of family honour after the Ukrainian's sister

Kateryna had knocked out older sibling Venus in the second round.

Back on centre court just 15 hours after a second round victory over Yaroslava Shvedova, the Wimbledon and Australian Open champion charged to a 5-0 lead on her way to taking the opening set.

Serena Williams

The American broke Bondarenko at the start of the second, but then suffered a momentary lapse, allowing her opponent back into the contest as the Ukrainian swept the next three games.

Williams, however, was quickly back on track winning the last three games to clinch the match and set up a quarter-final meeting with Czech qualifier Lucie Safarova, who advanced with a 7-6, 6-4 win over China's Zheng Jie.

"I was trying to be perfect and just couldn't get my serve in and I got frustrated," said Williams explaining her second set blip.

Little glory in Basterds

Inglourious Basterds

Director: Quentin Tarantino

Stars: Brad Pitt, Eli Roth

Classification: 14A

Rating: ●●●●

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

There are parts of Inglourious Basterds — Quentin Tarantino's intentionally audacious fusing of spaghetti westerns and Second World War epics — that are brilliant. But there are just as many parts surrounding them that fall flat.

Tarantino loves playing with audience expectations as to who lives and dies, and here it can get frustrating, with time and dialogue lavished on seemingly important characters who get snuffed out with minimal fanfare.

It's interesting, then, that the most compelling person in the film, the villain Col. Landa (Christoph Waltz), is pure convention: A smiling, charming and deliciously evil Nazi. That the character pops off the screen so well is all thanks to the incredible performance Austrian-born Waltz delivers. He commands the audience's attention, and richly rewards them for it.

His first chance to shine is perhaps the film's brightest moment, an opening sequence set in a French farmhouse in which Landa interrogates a farmer who may or may not be hiding a Jewish family. As a standalone scene, it is perhaps Tarantino's best ever. Conversely, another standalone scene, set in a German basement tavern, literally splits the film down the middle, killing any momentum built up and cancelling out much of the work the story had done. It's quite frustrating — and the new best example of Tarantino's chronic self-indulgence going horribly wrong.

Two main sticking points keep Basterds from succeeding as a whole. The first is the name. The film is being sold on Brad Pitt's titular team of American Jews on a mission of brutal revenge against Nazis. Except they're supporting characters at best, and most of their action takes place off-screen. (Of the eight Basterds, half don't even have dialogue.)

The other main problem is the intertwining of plot threads — or lack thereof.

On the web

For movie photos, trailers and screen times — or to buy tickets — visit metronews.ca/movies.

The climax of the film brings the biggest names of the Third Reich to a movie premiere in Paris, and we've watched two different groups of heroes plot to use the event to end the war.

Without giving too much away, the two plots don't so much converge or complicate each other as cancel each other out. It's monumentally unsatisfying. And if that's Tarantino's way of playing with our expectations, maybe he's playing a bit rough.

Brad Pitt's character leads a team of American Jews in a revenge mission against Nazis in Inglourious Basterds.

STEVE GOW
for Metro Canada

There's no debate about filmmaker Robert Rodriguez's extreme diversity. Whether its violent thrillers like Sin City or hyperkinetic juvenile triumphs like Spy Kids, the man has proven skills with imagination to boot.

And I'm not even talking about the fact that he writes, edits, scores and just about does everything short of making the crew's sandwiches on his movies.

Now, with Shorts, he's returned to testing the kiddy market with a chronologically-challenged fable about a rainbow-coloured rock that allows those in its possession anything they wish for.

For a young outcast like Toe Thompson (Jimmy Bennett), that kind of opportunity opens a world without braces and an end to the bullying.

But when the rock falls into other hands, suddenly the neighbourhood kids must save the world from a corporate megalomaniac (James Spader), bipedal crocodiles and a carelessly flung snotball that morphs into a huge, hideous monster. In short, the lesson is "be careful what you wish for."

While Rodriguez's message is simple (it's for kids after all), the film's structure is far from it.

With the visual splash of a Tiny Toons cartoon, the moral tone of a Dr. Seuss fable and its unadulterated aim at creating cinematic chaos as amusement, Rodriguez's latest adventure won't short-change the kids on fun.

However, their adult companions may find that Shorts' frantic, over-the-top pace may just short-circuit your synapses.

Grad fails across board

Post Grad

Director: Vicky Jensen
Stars: Alexis Bledel, Michael Keaton
Classification: PG
Rating: ★★

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

REVIEW It's tough pinpointing the most obnoxious part of Post Grad, a tale of 20-something misplaced priorities that has become more relevant than it deserves to be thanks to the recession. But the most offensive part, by far, is the wasted talent cast as the family of Alexis Bledel's titular college graduate.

The filmmakers somehow managed to hook Michael Keaton, Jane Lynch and Carol Burnett, all comedic forces in their own right, to play the "quirky" father, mother and grandmother of Ryden Malby (Bledel). And honestly, they all deserve much, much better.

As for Ryden herself, she tells us everything we need to know about her in a quickie video blog over the opening credits. She's had a plan since grade school, and everything is going according to that plan. Now that college is over, her next step is to land a job at "the top publishing company in Los Angeles."

While her career drama unfolds, we as the audience are supposed to agonize over Ryden not seeing the wonderful guy right in front of her, lovelorn BFF Adam (Zach Gilford).

All of this might be worth overlooking if the story followed any sort of logic. But no, instead we watch Ryden get beat out for her dream job, complain about her family, and mope. Then, through no effort of her own, she suddenly gets her dream job after all. Not that it matters, since after a brief "excelling at work" montage, she gives it all up just as suddenly to follow her heart.

Timekeeper will provoke and linger

The Timekeeper

Director: Louis Bélanger
Stars: Craig Olejnik, Roy Dupuis
Classification: PG-13
Rating: ****

ANNE BRODIE
 for Metro Canada

REVIEW The Timekeeper is a brooding story of men laying railroad track, a mile a day, in the remote wooded mountains of the Northwest Territories. It's intense, quiet and riveting, a kind of adult Lord of the Flies that gets under your skin.

It isn't a horror film in the conventional sense but feels like one. It is fleshed out with intelligence, compassion and an underlying goodness.

Violence simmers in the encampment, where society's rejects jump to the tune of a brutally sadistic boss. Does slavery in isolation make people crazy or does the crazy draw them there? Life is a daily struggle to stay in one piece, if not necessarily sane.

An idealistic young man, played by Craig Olejnik (The Listener) arrives as the new timekeeper, charged with keeping tracks of men's hours. He answers to boss Fisk (Stephen McHattie), whose charm belies evil as definitive as Hannibal Lecter crossed with Simon Legree.

Fisk's crew is mesmerised by fear because his greatest pleasure is breaking and torturing them, exiling complainers to the garbage heap or murdering them and collecting their wages. Things get tricky when the timekeeper starts asking questions so Fisk sets out to break him.

Olejnik and McHattie put in powerful and beautifully contrasting performances in their dance of death.

The Timekeeper is a harsh morality tale that will provoke and linger.

'It's really, really dark'

Rob Zombie ditches campy humour in Halloween 2

CHRIS ALEXANDER
 for Metro Canada

Like his cultural contemporary Quentin Tarantino, writer/director/rockstar Rob Zombie has fashioned a career and forged a legacy out of his undying love for classic trash cinema.

The platinum-selling shock rock guru (beloved for both his solo work and the long defunct band he fronted, White Zombie) and filmmaker had already amassed a cult following for his ultraviolent, cruel horror pictures like House of 1000 Corpses and The Devils Rejects.

But it was with his 2007 remake of John Carpenter's seminal 1978 indie slasher Halloween, that he really hit box office gold, and, in turn, was taken seriously as a major Hollywood player.

Movie feature

Though he swore he wouldn't, Zombie has now revisited that controversial genre redux territory with Halloween 2 — opening next Friday. The supposedly leaner, gorier follow-up is, Zombie insists, a radical departure from his semi-faithful original.

"The difference between this film and the first is the difference between House of 1000 Corpses and The Devils Rejects," says the director. "I didn't care what people's expectations were and I didn't care about the Halloween that had come before. I had complete creative control to do whatever I wanted."

Halloween 2 continues the sick saga of psychologically damaged Laurie Strode (Scout Taylor-Compton), who is still trying to evade the homicidal rampage of her deranged masked serial killer brother Michael Myers (Tyler Mane).

Outside of his two leads, the director has also reassembled many of his other surviving cast members, including the legendary Malcom McDowell who reprises his turn as the wild eyed Dr. Loomis.

"I think that directors like to work with the same actors all the time, because the performances they give are that much more dynamic," Zombie says.

And even though past Zombie efforts — much like the campy, hillbilly horror persona he's long employed — have had their tongues firmer wedged in their bloody cheeks, the filmmaker claims that Halloween 2 will be a decidedly grim, oppressive experience.

"There is absolutely no humour in this movie. It's really, really dark."

Halloween 2 opens in theatres next Friday

Selection will vary by store. Savings are off our regular prices, unless otherwise specified. Everyday Bay Value, just-reduced, Power Buys, Manager's Specials, licensed departments, Salviati, Vera Wang and Hbc Foundation charity merchandise are excluded. When you see "POWER BUY" or "Manager's Special" you will know we have found an exceptional deal to pass on to you. We may tell you the COMPARABLE VALUE on the price ticket and/or a sign, so you will see the price another retailer in Canada charges or would likely charge for the same or a comparable value item. Quantities of our Power Buys and Manager's Specials and items located in any "Style Outlet" in-store departments are limited and may vary from store to store - no rain checks or substitutions. When we say "PRICE CUT", we mean the existing everyday price is being lowered temporarily. See in-store for details.

Surviving the dog days of summer

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

metronews.ca/soundcheck

The last two weeks of August are a rather desperate time. Those who have already exhausted their summer vacations are grumpy over the prospect of no time off until Christmas.

If you're still with me after that cheerful preamble, here are a couple of musical things that may distract you from the fact that in two weeks, it'll be Labour Day:

New Radiohead: Something weird is going on with Thom and Co. First, for one pound sterling, you can download a song called Harry Patch (In Memory Of), dedicated to the passing of the last British First World War vet. Then, a second song called These Are My Twisted Words was leaked online by the band themselves along with some primitive ASCII artwork which may point towards a new EP.

Solo Jack White: In the year's best music documentary, It Might Get Loud (wherein Jack, U2's The Edge and Jimmy Page of Led Zeppelin swap guitar stories), Jack was challenged to write and record a song before the cameras. It took 10 minutes. Now people worldwide are buying Fly Farm Blues at 99 cents a pop on iTunes.

U2 comes to North America: For the first time since 1984, they started a world tour in Europe. Reviews have been rapturous and The Claw stage has people gobsmacked. Things start in Chicago on Sept. 12.

Celine Dion, Frank Sinatra and Michael Jackson. What do these artists have in common? Well, if you were to ask the red and black haired spitfire from Regina, Sask., known simply as Shiloh, she'd tell you they're her biggest influences. That and "a lot of '80s music," thanks to her dad.

Her feisty, radio-friendly tunes like Operator (A Girl Like Me) and Goodbye, You Suck suggest this 16-year-old was raised on a steady diet of crunchy pop punk, but get her talking about Celine Dion and Shiloh is in awe.

"She's worked really hard to get to where she is today," she says. "(Celine's) extremely focused and stays in shape, and she's got an amazing voice, determination, motivation, and the drive to be the best she can be."

While Shiloh's just re-

leased her debut album, Picture Imperfect, the way she describes Canada's most successful export it's as if she's planning a similar path for her burgeoning career.

After winning a radio contest in Edmonton, Shiloh signed a worldwide deal with Universal Republic and has spent the last two and a half years making the album. She calls it the "best feeling in the world" to finally have Picture Imperfect available to her growing legion of fans, so she can continue spreading a message that she feels is important to hear.

"The message is just being yourself and never letting that go because that's one thing that you can always keep," she says. "Nobody can take who you are away from you, no matter how you dress or who you are."

Though most of the album focuses on the importance of being yourself, Shiloh's favourite song is actually the kiss off anthem Goodbye, You Suck, which she wrote about an unsuspecting ex-boyfriend of hers. "It was to a guy I was with who was a complete and total jerk, so I wrote a song about it because I just hated him at the time," she says laughing. "I've talked to him in the last while and it's totally fine. It's a little bit awkward though because he asked me one day if the song was about him and I just said no."

The song will definitely be a crowd favourite on her 17-date headlining Canadian tour throughout August and September. "The tour is gonna be so exciting," she exclaims. "I'm looking forward to getting out there with the band to see all of my fans. They're gonna be energy packed shows."

Jane top of her game in Glee

NED EHRBAR

Metro World News

Jane Lynch has had a busy month at the movies, stealing scenes alongside Carol Burnett in Post Grad and Meryl Streep in Julie & Julia.

But August is nothing compared to the exposure Lynch is set to receive come September, when the much-anticipated Fox series Glee starts up in earnest.

The first episode — which opens with Lynch's domineering, over-competitive cheerleading coach chastising her team with, "You think this is hard? Try being waterboarded." — got a boost to its profile thanks to a sneak preview after the American Idol season finale and some major support from TV critics and fans at last month's Comic

Con.

And Lynch has been a major part of the marketing for the ensemble show.

"I feel like I'm doing a lot of press," she says. But she's not complaining. "I'm not one of those people who's like, 'Deep down inside I'm really shy.'"

Glee premieres Wednesday, Sept. 9 on Global

Though best known for standout roles in films like The 40-Year-Old Virgin and last year's Role Models, Lynch started 2009 firmly committed to moving to the small screen. "My New Year's resolution was I want to hang my hat somewhere," she says. And that led her to taking part in two pilots, Glee and a Damon Wayans comedy for ABC that didn't see the light of day.

"I didn't know if it would be Glee or the Damon Wayans thing or anything," she says. But when the little show about a bunch of high school outcasts breaking into song got picked up, Lynch says she was thrilled.

Jane Lynch

"I think (Glee) is just head and shoulders above anything that's on TV. I don't want to sound like I'm bragging, but it's really good."

Working overtime in prime-time

After 17 years of late night TV chat, Jay Leno says he's working harder than ever to fill his eagerly-anticipated new prime-time show with comedy.

"It's a lot of material to fill. It is a lot of jokes. This is a lot more work. A lot more work. You're doing probably three shows worth of comedy every night," Leno told reporters on Wednesday.

"On The Tonight Show we had maybe two talking guests and a band. That's not a lot of work for me.

But this will be a lot more work," he said.

Leno, 59, said The Jay Leno Show was heavier on comedy than talk and that he planned to open each night with an 8-12 minute comic monologue, which takes about 5-6 hours to prepare every day.

And with just one celebrity guest each night, he has hired a team of upcoming young comedians as "correspondents" to give an oddball take on the news of the day and topical issues.

One segment, already taped ahead of the Sept. 14 debut of his 10 p.m., five nights-a-week experiment for NBC, involves a visit to a retirement center to teach seniors about the whys and wherefores of the Twitter social phenomenon. "It is very gentle, very kind. But it is just funny," said Leno.

The most exciting new venture for Leno, an avid collector of vintage cars, is the installment of a race car track outside his TV studio in suburban Los Angeles. Celebrities will be invited to power round the track against the clock in an electric car challenge.

Leno said actors Tom Cruise and Patrick Dempsey were among those eager to take part.

Leno's move from 11:30 p.m. to the prime-time 10 p.m. slot traditionally occupied by expensive scripted drama on leading U.S. networks is being closely watched by the industry as NBC struggles to retain audiences and cut costs in the face of declining advertising revenue.

"We can do five shows for less than the price of one CSI or Law & Order episode," he said.

But Leno again shrugged off suggestions that the future of NBC, currently lagging in last place in terms of viewership among the four major TV networks, hinged on the success or failure of his new venture.

"We're not here to revolutionize anything or change the world. It is just a comedy show," he said. "We'll try this and see what happens. I just work here."

New Dawn for Avril

Punk popstar unveils new clothing line

JANINE FALCON
for Metro Canada

Jamie Katzman, owner and president of the Boathouse chain of clothing stores, is pretty chuffed.

He's got the Canadian exclusive on Abbey Dawn, a colourful line of punk-inspired casualwear from multi-platinum award-winning singer/songwriter Avril Lavigne.

"It just sort of happened," he told Metro when the line debuted in his downtown-Toronto store earlier this week. "We were introduced through a friend of a friend. I was familiar with Avril's line, and heard that she knew and had shopped at Boathouse... and a few months later, I'm standing with her in the store at the launch."

"I'm excited to have my clothes at Boathouse — it's a good match," said Lavigne, who was on hand to introduce Abbey Dawn (her childhood nickname) and meet with 50 fans who had won tickets to the launch via a Boathouse contest. She describes her line as "rock 'n' roll, playful and fun," a mix-and-match collection of her personal style. "You can throw on the skinny jeans with heels, a Chanel bag, mix it with Betsey Johnson — it's fun, fashion is fun," she said.

Youthful and bold in the singer's favourite colours — black, white, red, hot pink and purple — the clothes are exactly what one might expect of Lavigne: An exuberant mix of prep-school-gone-punk graphic tees, cropped vests, short plaid kilts, skinny jeans, edgy-cute accessories, and hoodies, lots of hoodies. "I pretty much wear hoodies every day," she said. In fact, her day's ensemble of choice was her own Abbey Dawn "I Always Get What I Want" hoody and black leggings. "I don't want to jinx it!" she exclaimed when asked whether she does actually always get what she wants.

"I like that she wears her own label," said Alyssa Chin, 20, who was at the event with her sister, Kamille, 23, a contest winner. "A lot of celebrities design clothing but don't wear their stuff. It's good Avril does."

Although Abbey Dawn has until now been available only south of the border, Lavigne was not the only launch attendee wearing her clothes. Aren Adanian, 16, "a fan since day one," was kitted out in a black-and-white Abbey Dawn hoody and plaid shorts he'd picked up at the U.S. retailer Kohl's.

Abbey Dawn ranges in price from $14.99 for accessories to $59.99 for a soft hooded blazer, and is currently available at 15 of Katzman's 37 Boathouse locations (boathousestores.com). It'll be in the rest of the stores in November.

Metro's 7th Heaven: Metro taps what's hot right now

Inglourious Basterds

FILM There are plenty of good summer movies in theatres right now. But are you going to sit out the opportunity to watch Brad Pitt and his gang of Basterds hunt for "Nazi scalps" in a Quentin Tarantino Second World War fantasy? Really? We didn't think so.

Top Chef Las Vegas

TV It's season 6 of Bravo's reality cookoff, and 17 new "chefeestants" are trying their culinary skills (and luck) in Sin City. Plenty of kitchen drama, some mouth-watering food and gorgeous host Padma Lakshmi make this show a cut above the rest.

DVD Gael García Bernal and Diego Luna — two of the hottest global stars — team up with Y Tu Mamá También writer Carlos Cuarón for this tragicomic romp through the world of fame and soccer. It may not reach the heights of También (already a foreign cinema classic), but the improvisational thespianism of Bernal and Luna is as good as movies get.

Imperial Blaze: Sean Paul

ALBUM It's never too late for a summer block party and Sean Paul's fourth album can even get your mom dancing on the streets. The reggae-dancehall star serves up plenty of juice here — So Fine and Press It Up are standouts but any of the 20 tracks will do the trick. Just push play and get burnin'.

The Girl Who Played With Fire: Stieg Larsson

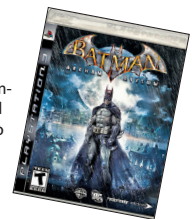

BOOK Investigative journalist Mikael Blomkvist and cyberpunk anti-heroine Lisbeth Salander are back in this sequel to The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo, the novel that put the late Swedish author on top of the contemporary thriller pile. The new instalment is already burning up charts around the world (including Canada) and rumour has it that George Clooney, Johnny Depp and Brad Pitt are all interested in playing Blomkvist on film.

Batman: Arkham Asylum

GAME Finally a Batman title that's supposed to do for gaming what The Dark Knight did for Batman films — take the franchise to a new level of artistic sophistication. Here, the caped crusader takes on a whole bunch of psychotic supervillains, including The Joker and The Riddler, running amok inside the titular asylum.

United Breaks Guitars: Song 2

VIDEO The Dave Carroll recipe for success: Write a song about how United Airlines broke your guitar. Post the video. Repeat, if desired, for best results. The Halifax musician has returned with another instalment of his viral video — this time with bigger and better production. To date, the original clip has been viewed almost five million times on YouTube.

Jesus cries if he wants to at Madge's party

HEARTBREAKER Madonna made her model boyfriend cry when she refused to wear jewelry he bought her for her birthday, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

Jesus Luz, 22, gave the singer a set of South American good-luck bracelets, made of thin ribbons which are said to grant the wearer three wishes when they break, at her 51st birthday party on Sunday.

Madonna smiled when she opened the present, but was quick to tell Luz she couldn't wear it, leaving him in tears.

A source told Britain's Daily Mirror newspaper: "Madonna said that although she loved the bracelets she wouldn't wear them because they clashed with her Kabbalah bracelets.

"Jesus was crestfallen and he had words with her."

Later the same night, Madonna praised her lover in a speech at the party before running across the room to passionately kiss him. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Sting sex rumour a fake: Daughter

TOO MUCH INFORMATION Sting's daughter Coco Sumner wants everyone to know the rumours about her dad's bedroom prowess — eight-hour bedroom sessions thanks to tantric sex — are false. "Bob Geldof made up this thing and it stuck," she told Love magazine.

"It's embarrassing when people bring it up ... They love each other. So what?"

Robert denies single quotes

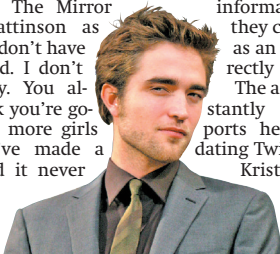

WAIT A MINUTE Robert Pattinson has fired back at tabloid reports he's single and looking for love, insisting he never spoke to the paper that quoted him, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

Britain's The Mirror quoted Pattinson as stating, "I don't have a girlfriend. I don't know why. You always think you're going to get more girls after you've made a movie and it never happens."

But he insists he never spoke to the tabloid. His publicist said, "Robert did not speak to the Mirror, and their claim that they spoke to him a few days ago is manufactured along with any information that they claim to have as an exclusive directly from him."

The actor has constantly denied reports he is secretly dating Twilight co-star Kristen Stewart. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Céline's second test-tube baby

PREGNANCY Céline Dion, now expecting her second child, is "very excited," said her doctor, Dr. Zev Rosenwaks, who performed the in vitro fertilization procedure that made the 41-year-old singer's pregnancy possible, people.com reports.

When he called her earlier this week to say the pregnancy test was positive, "You could hear her chuckling," he said. "She was very happy. So was (husband René Angélil). They are both very thankful."

Rosenwaks implanted an embryo that had been kept frozen in liquid nitrogen for the past eight years.

Dion had her embryos frozen when she went through IVF while trying to conceive her first child, René-Charles, who was born in 2001. When she completed her performance run in Las Vegas in 2007, "she came back to have the embryos transferred back because she wanted to have another baby," he said. METRO NEWS SERVICES

Fans freak me out: Kristen

RABID TEEN FANS Kristen Stewart admits she's completely freaked out by her obsessive fans.

"I'm scared. I feel like I could go out in disguise but they would still recognize my feet or the shape of my leg," the actress said, according to Hollyscoop. "They'd say, 'Hey, she looks about right.' And they would just bag me. It's scary."

And Stewart admits she's not adapting to fame all that easily. "I can't remember what my normal life is like," she said.

"Because of Internet stuff and Twitter, there will be a crowd if you are in a place for more than half an hour. I've learned never to stay in the same place for more than 20 minutes."

1 cup (250 ml) seeded chopped watermelon
1/2 cup (125 ml) chopped strawberries
1/2 cup (125 ml) chopped kiwi
1/4 cup chopped peaches
3 tbsp (45 ml) lime juice
4 tsp (20 ml) honey
1/2 tsp (2 ml) grated lime peel
1 to 2 mint leaves, chopped
1/2 cup (125 ml) peach preserves
3 pork tenderloins (3/4 lb/375 g each)

METHOD:

1. Coat barbecue rack or grill pan rack with nonstick cooking spray before starting. Prepare barbecue for indirect heat, using a drip pan. Salsa: in a small bowl, combine the fruit, lime juice, honey, lime peel and mint; set aside. In a pot, heat the preserves for 1 minute. 2. Grill pork, covered, over indirect medium-hot heat for 15 minutes. Turn; brush with some of the preserves. Grill 10-15 minutes longer or until juices run clear and a meat thermometer reads 160 F (71 C), basting occasionally with preserves. Serve with salsa.
